Reviews:

"A powerful and moving memoir that sheds light on the plight of Kurdish women and the human cost of war. Sara's story is a testament to the resilience of the human spirit and the importance of fighting for justice." -

The New York Times

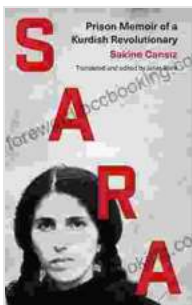

"Sara's memoir is a harrowing and inspiring account of her imprisonment and torture in Iran. Her story is a reminder of the horrors that women face in many parts of the world and the importance of fighting for human rights."

- The Guardian

About the Author

Sara is a Kurdish revolutionary who spent years imprisoned and tortured by the Iranian regime. After her release, she became a leading advocate for human rights and women's rights. She now lives in exile in London.

Sherko Bekas is a poet and translator who has translated numerous works from Kurdish into English. He is the recipient of the PEN/Heim Translation Fund Grant.
