Helen Strahinich was a young girl who survived the Holocaust. She was born in Yugoslavia in 1935, and her family was targeted by the Nazis because they were Jewish. In 1942, Helen and her family were sent to the Auschwitz concentration camp. They were separated upon arrival, and Helen never saw her parents or siblings again.

Helen survived Auschwitz and was later transferred to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp. She was liberated by the British Army in 1945. After the war, Helen immigrated to the United States, where she married and raised a family. She never forgot the horrors she had witnessed during the Holocaust, and she dedicated her life to sharing her story with others.
