Why is censorship a threat to democracy?

Censorship is a threat to democracy because it prevents people from accessing the information they need to make informed decisions. When people are not able to read books or access other information that challenges their beliefs, they are more likely to become intolerant of dissenting viewpoints.

Censorship can also lead to the spread of misinformation. When people are not able to access accurate information, they are more likely to believe false or misleading information that is spread by those in power.

What can we do to fight censorship?

There are a number of things that we can do to fight censorship:

- Support organizations that are fighting censorship
- Attend public hearings and speak out against censorship
- Write letters to your elected officials and let them know that you oppose censorship

- Educate yourself and others about the importance of intellectual freedom
- Use your voice to challenge censorship in all its forms
